

GFGS Schools Virtual Gardening Competition 2017

Following last year's success once again we are going to run a schools virtual gardening competition.

The rules are basically as follows,

1. Register your interest at competition@gfgs.org.uk and we will confirm the rules etc., as we will need to know how many will be taking part! (Please note numbers may be limited)
2. Take photographs of this years (2017) school gardening activities (maximum of 20 images) add brief explanatory captions and include images of harvested produce.
3. In not more than 300 words say what your school group has gained from gardening (We are hoping this will be composed by the students).
4. Submit images and report no later than the end of July using dedicated email address competition@gfgs.org.uk

Last years entries can be viewed on the GFGS website at www.gfgs.org.uk/gfgs/virtualcomp16.htm this might give you some ideas on how best to present your images/report.

If you are reading this and connected with a school or junior gardening club, and you are in an area covered by one of our member clubs/societies then tell them about it and if they are interested in this year's competition they can contact us at competition@gfgs.org.uk
